Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter is 20 years old, attractive, has a lovely figure and two years of college.

Doreen has several young men who take her out, but it seems that she must be on the go every night of her life or she isn't happy. She thinks nothing of going out alone or with another girl if she has no dates.

Am I old fashioned because I believe it is improper for young women to go unescorted to bars or cocktail lounges and become friendly with men they never saw before?

Doreen insists she and her girl friend have met some very high class men this way and that it is a common and respectable practice. I think it is deplorable and have told her so. May I hear your opinion, please?—BEHIND THE TIMES

Dear Times: Your daughter is half right. It's a common practice—plenty common—but it is NOT respectable.

Dateless women who rivet themselves to bar stools give the impression they are pick-ups, even if they are not.

A girl who values her reputation doesn't rattle around town unescorted, or with another female.

Do you lean on cigarettes as a social crutch? You may regret it later. Send for ANN LANDE'S booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Word With Superintendent?...See Her First

School's In The Air...and She's Busy As District's 'Girl Friday'

With mothers shopping for back-to-school clothes for youngsters, football coaches planning fall schedules, and school corridors getting their annual scrubdown—there's a feeling that school's in the air.

In a picture-windowed office in Torrance a secretary is typing a speech the superintendent of schools will deliver to teachers at an orientation meeting two days before school starts.

Every Robinson Crusoe has his man Friday; and every school district has its girl Friday. Girl Friday to Dr. J. H. Hull, Torrance school superintendent, is an attractive brunet with the unusual name of Phaidor Trezise.

Named for a Martian princess in a series of space fiction novels written half a century ago by Edgar Rice Burroughs, author of "Tarzan," Mrs. Trezise in private life is wife of Clifford Trezise, president of the Torrance Optimists Club.

As secretary to the superintendent of schools, Phaidor's responsibilities range from taking reservations for the monthly luncheon of the Torrance Educational Advisory Committee to preparing 100-page agendas every other week for Board of Education meetings.

Besides keeping up with

PHAIDOR TREZISE . . . School Big Interest

the superintendent's correspondence, Phaidor—as she is called by fellow-employees—handles his phone calls, puts his visitors at their ease, sets up his appointments, and takes the official minutes at school board meetings and TEAC luncheons. She is the girl who makes new employees feel at home, and she is the one to whom people turn when they need to know where to find information.

When other departments have peak loads, she assists them in their work as part of the district's stenographic pool system. And when she is in turn overloaded, members of the stenographic pool give her an assist.

An employee of the Torrance Unified School District for 15 years, Mrs. Trezise has been secretary to the superintendent of schools for the past six years. Prior to that she assisted the director of instruction and served as secretary to the assistant superintendent of educational services for eight years.

A native of Ellendale, Minn., Phaidor grew up on a farm and attended 12 years of school with the same 40 classmates. She came to California in 1946. After working for two years as a legal secretary in Burbank, she married a Torrance man and spent six months employed as a legal secretary prior to going to work for the newly-formed school district.

When Phaidor came to the district as a bride, she already had a knowledge of school functions under her belt, having taught fifth grade for two years in LeSueur, Minn., on a two-year teaching certificate she obtained at Mankato State College.

In addition to functioning as the wife of the president of one of Torrance's leading service clubs, Phaidor is a member of the Torrance Woman's Club, the Order of the Eastern Star, Las Fiestas-Dances Dance Club, City of Hope, and the California State Employees Association.

Her main hobby is her home, with reading, bridge, and music following in that order.

Side-effect of working around educators was Phaidor's decision three years ago to complete the requirements for a California teaching degree. Three years ago she began taking night courses at Long Beach State College.

Phaidor's plans for fall?—Back to school, again. As a senior in night college, she's planning on graduating, come 1966.

In Catalina

Mrs. C. L. Porter, 1026 Elm Ave., and Mrs. Ruth Doerschel of Los Angeles spent from Monday through Thursday in Catalina where they were guests of Mrs. Doerschel's son, Randy, who is employed at the Yacht Club there.

Eastern Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ashford, Todd, Terri and Blaine of 3425 W. 229th St., have returned from a seven-weeks vacation in the east. The family flew to Connecticut where they visited parents of the Ashfords. They then attended the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mrs. Ashford's grandparents in Richmond, Me. The Ashfords spent several days in New York attending the World's Fair before boarding the El Capitan for the return trip.

Return to Coast

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gately, Sr., 342 E. 219th St., are expecting their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gately, Jr. to arrive this week from Athens, Ga., where Mr. Gately has been attending the U. S. Naval Supply School. He was recently assigned supply officer for the USS Pritchard stationed in Long Beach. The young Gatelys were married last Dec. 28. Mrs. Gately is the former Nancy Lee Klutz of Duarte.
